SENTINEL Montgomery County, Md. Thursday, November 10, 1966 A9

Author of 'Whitewash' To Be on TV Special

"A Re-examination of the Warren Commission Findings: A Minority Report" is the first television special on the serious questions which have been raised recently about the report.

Harold Weisberg of Hyattstown, author of "Whitewash," a book challenging the findings of the Warren Commission Report on President John F. Kennedy's death, will be one of five authors appearing on a television special Nov. 12 at 8 p.m. on Channel 5.

Appearing with Weisberg on the three-hour program will be Mark Lane, attorney and author of "Rush to Judgment;" Leo Sauvage, newspaper correspondent and author of "The Oswald Affair;" Penn Jones, newspaper editor and author of "Forgive My Grief," and Jacob Cohen, educator and author of "The Missing Document." Moderator will be Jim Bishop, who is writing "The Day Kennedy Was Shot." News analyst David Schoenbrun will serve as host.

610,000 American people are directly affected by TB. Use Christmas Seals to help them.

M Club Is Set To Fete Athletes

The M Club of the University of Maryland will stage its 16th annual awards banquet on Dec. 3 at the Shoreham Hotel. The event pays tribute to outstanding figures in football, basketball, baseball, lacrosse, track, swimming, wrestling and golf at the university.

Nationally acclaimed figures are also cited for their contributions to sports.